Dear Mr. Miller

As a parent of a young child, the issue of the contamination in the San Jacinto River hits home for me. I love where I live and I love raising my family here, but how can I teach my child to love and respect the outdoors if it's too dangerous for them to experience? I can't imagine how anyone in good conscience would allow any community to live in such hazardous conditions. Please protect my family with an armored cap. We can't risk the further pollution that could be caused in the dig and haul process. Think of our families and our future. Thank you.

Sincerely
